

The One Piece Of Jewelry Even Hollywood A-Listers Can't Get Their HANDs On

San Francisco's HAND in HAND custom jewelry design will participate at the Emmys and AGTA Spectrum Awards where their renowned "Loving Family Mosaic" necklace will be on display at the American Gem Trade Association's (AGTA) Emmy Time Awards Suite in advance of participating in the 2005 AGTA Spectrum Awards.

For Immediate Release

SAN FRANCISCO/EWORLDWIRE/Sep. 8, 2005 --- HAND in HAND's "Loving Family Mosaic" necklace is a don't miss design for Hollywood celebrities, stylists, publicists and the domestic and international press to become familiar with San Francisco's up and coming fine jewelry designer. Hollywood's A-list won't want to miss the exclusive opportunity to view the piece in person. While they can look, they won't be able to buy or wear the piece given it's a privately owned, one-of-a-kind.

The "Loving Family Mosaic" will be on display for three days leading up to the Emmy Awards on Sunday, September 18, 2005. The piece was custom designed for a very special, Chicago-based client who wanted to celebrate the birth of their third child by creating a family heirloom piece "like nothing they had ever seen."

The necklace is diamond encrusted with 209 top-quality canary yellow, champagne, cognac and white diamonds of varying shapes and sizes that bring this gorgeous design to life. It exemplifies HAND in HAND's unrivaled attention to detail, creativity and technical experience, which enables them to create pieces of unmatched quality and technical construction.

"I am very excited for people to have the opportunity to see the 'Loving Family Mosaic' necklace in person since it is a privately owned piece," said Marc Stiglitz, founder and head designer of HAND in HAND. "It will also be an amazing experience to then have the AGTA and jewelry industry leaders assess the quality and creativity of my work."

"I am completely honored to not only share in my clients' most special celebrations and life milestones, but I'm also so grateful to partner with the most talented jewelry craftsman, Chung Sang Cho," said Stiglitz. "Cho's forty plus years of experience enable me to dream freely and fully explore my creativity. Then he performs his magic and enables me to bring my customers' dreams to reality."
